Today's coloring contest helps launch a month-long community effort aimed at protecting children

Today marks the beginning of Our Kids: Our Business, a month-long community effort to protect children and ensure they have a chance to live a happy, healthy life. To help bring the voice of the children into the discussion, we're sponsoring a coloring contest using the project's pinwheel logo.

Although this contest is tied to the abuse prevention project, we're not necessarily asking for kids to incorporate that theme into their designs. Just color the pinwheel and have fun. You can use crayons, markers, glitter, jelly beans, ribbons – anything you want.

The artists should write their name, age and hometown at the bottom of the form. Parents should fill out the contact information in the upper right corner, which will not be displayed or published.

Three winners will be chosen from each of three age groups: 0-4, 5-8 and 9-12. Each winner will receive a gift certificate for two admissions to Mobius Kids at River Park Square. The nine winning entries will be published in The Spokesman-Review on April 23.

All of the entries will be on display at Mobius from April 23-30.

You can download and print additional entry forms at www.spokesmanreview.com/coloringcontest.

Send your entries to:
Spokesman-Review Coloring Contest

The entry deadline is 5 p.m. on April 16. We're sorry, but entries cannot be returned.
